Death of Dr. Morris Henry, the Noted New York Surgeon. secciated Press Leased-wire Service

NEW YORK, May 20.—Dr. Morris Henry, the well-known surgeon who organized the present system of ambulance service in the city, is dead. While in Turkey he so pleased the Sul-

While in Turkey he so pleased the Sultan by his work that that dignitary conferred upon him the imperial order of the second class of the Mejidie, with the rank of grand officer. He had made a study of diseases of veins, particularly those which incapacitated military men from service and discovered a method of treating them successfully. The Sultan liked this, as many of his subjects had escaped service because of vein diseases. This decoration is the same as the Sultan conferred upon Gen. Lew Wallace and Representative S. S. Cox, who were the United States ministers at his court.

For his contributiops to medical and surgical science the King of Greece made Dr. Henry an officer of the Saviour with the gold cross.

The Monroe Doctrine a Myth. The Monroe Doctrine a Myth.

NEW YORK, May 20.—A special to the Herald from Managua says that it is learned that Admiral Stevenson and other officers of the British equadron, which invested Corinto both before and after the occupation of the town, publicly declared to a party of Americans that the Monroe doctrine was a myth, which the United States would not and could not enforce, and that the British occupation of Corinto was simply intended as a test to definitely dispose of that question.

The Income-tax Law a Dead Letter.

Decision of the Supreme Court Thereon.

A Direct Levy on Real Estate and Personalty and Therefore Unconstitutional.

The Justices Stand Five to Four Against the Act in Toto—Harlan, Brown, White and Jackson Dissent.

washington, May 20.—The incom ich has received so large e public attention since Fifty-chird Congress, is a thing of the past. After being twice heard in the United States Supreme Court, it was finally decided today by the court to be invalid and unconsti our dissenting opinions delivered in these ases today, one each by Justices Harian cases today, one each by Justices Harlan, Frown, Jackson and White, showing that the court had shood 5 to 4 against the law. Inasmutch as one of these dissenting opinions was handed down by Justice Juckson, and as he was absent at the first hearing when the court divided evenly on the question of sustaining the law on all points except those as to the tax on incomes from rents and bonds, it follows that one of the members of the court who that one of the members of the court who at first was pronounced for the law, except on those two points, changed his attitude after the second argument.

There is very little question that Justice Shiras is the Justice who changed his views on these points. He made no an-mountement, either today or when the first opinion was delivered, as to his opinion. While the opinion of the Chief Jus-tice was largely a review of the general aspects of the questions involved, he based gument that the provisions of the law regarding the tax on rents and bonds were so essentially a factor of it as to render all other parts of it dependent on them, and in accordance with the well-known rule of law bearing on this quession, the law as a whole must be declared invalid. The opinions of Justices Harland and White were cancluded in language so vigorous, and were so emphate in their arritismment of the milority, as to cause very general comment. Both Justices in dicated their belief that the ruling opinion was revolutionary and intimated that serious consequences might ensue. Justice Harlan suggested the necessity for amending the Constitution in view of the opinion.

amending the Constitution in view of the opinion.

The courtroom was packed during the entire three hours when the opinions were being delivered. The unexpected event of today was in the appearance of Justice Jackson. He had announced, after casting his vote last Saturday week, that he would return on the following Monday to Tennessee, but it appears that instead he went to Philadelphia to consult a specialist on internal diseases. He left the bench immediately after delivering his opinion today and it is understood that he will now proceed south. He delivered his opinion from notes.

It should probably bestated that while the cases in which these opinions were delivered are uniformly characterized as the incometax cases, they are known on the court dockets as the cases of Charles Poliock vs. the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company and Louis H. Hyde vs. the Continental Trust Company of New York, both Sppealed from the Circuit Court of the United States for the Southern District of New York.

THE DECISION.

THE DECISION.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—There was the usual throng about the United States Supreme Court room today in anticipation of a final decision in the income-tax cases. a final decision in the income tax cases.

The Justices were at the Capitol early, and the consultation began promptly at 10 the consultation began promptly at 10 o'clock, continuing until a few minutes before 12. All members of the court were present, including Justice Jackson, whose presence caused a great deal of speculation, and was the basis for a good deal of goesip as to the possibility of some surprise for the public. The Justices against the law were Chief Justice Fuller and Justices Gray, Field, Brewer and Shiras; for the law, Justices Harlan, White, Brown and Jackson.

Immediately on the convening of the Supreme Court, Chief Justice Fuller read it was generally accepted as conclusive that the law would be knocked out in toto, which proved to be the case. The conclusions of the court were as follows: "First—We adhere to the opinion already amnounced that taxes on real estate, being indisputably direct taxes, taxes on rents or income for real estate are equally direct taxes.

"Second—We are of the optnion that taxes on personal property are likeyise direct.

from personal property are likewise direct taxes.

"Third—The tax imposed by secs. 27 to 37 inclusive of the act of 1894, so far as it falls on income from real estate and en personal property, being a direct tax within the meaning of the Constitution, it is is on income from real estate and enpersonal property, being a direct tax within the meaning of the Constitution, and therefore unconstitutional and void because not apportioned according to representation, all these sections constituting the entire scheme of taxation are necessarily invalid. Decrees hereinbefore entered in this court will be vacated. Decrees below will be reversed and cases remanded with instructions to grant the relief prayed."

Secs. 27 to 27 of the tariff act of 1894, referred to in the conclusions of the court in its opinion, are sections of the act relating to the income tax. The entire income-tax law is thus declared void specifically.

At the outset of his opinion, Chief Justice Fuller said:

"Whenever this court is required to pass upon the validity of an act of Congress as tested by the fundamental law enacted by the people, the duty imposed demands in its discharge the utmost deliberation and care, and invokes the deepest sense of responsibility, and this is especially to when the question involves the exercise of great governments power and brings into consideration, as vitally affected by the decision, that complex system of government so sagaciously framed to secure and perpetuate an indestructible States.

"We have therefore, an anxious desire to omit nothing which might in any degreet end to elucidate the questions submitted, and, sided by further able arguments embodying the fruits of elaborate research, have carefully re-examined these cases with the result that while our former conclusions remain unchanged, their scope must be enlarged by the ac-

the Constitution, and the court went no further as to the tax on incomes from real estate than to hold that it felt it to be within the same class as the source whence the income was derived; that is, that the tax upon realty and the tax upon receipts therefrom were alike direct, while, as to the income from municipal bonds, that could not be taxed because of the want of power to tax the source, and no reference was made to the nature of taxes being direct, or indirect.

reference was made to the nature of taxes being direct or indirect.

"We are now permitted to broaden the field of inquiry and determine to which of the two great classes the tax upon a person's entire income, whether derived from rents or products or otherwise of real estate, or from bonds, stocks or other forms of personal property, belongs, and we are unable to copolude that enforced subtraction from the yield of all owners' real or personal property in the manner prescribed is so different from the tax upon property itself that it is not a direct but an indirect tax in the meaning of the Constitution.

"The words of the Constitution are to be taken in their obvious sense and have a reasonable construction. We know no reason for holding otherwise than that the express words, 'direct taxes' on one hand and 'duties, imposts and excises' on the other, were used in the Constitution in their natural and obvious sense. Nor, in arriving at what those terms embrace. arriving at what those terms embrace, we perceive any ground for enlarging em beyond, or narrowing them within, eir natural and obvious import at the their natural and obvious import at the time the Constitution was framed and ratified; and, passing from the text, we regard the conclusion reached as inevitable when the circumstances which surrounded the convention and controlled its action and the views of those who framed and those who adopted the Constitution are The Chief.

The Chief Justice discussed the reaso for the constitutional provisions regarding The Chief Justice discussed the reasons for the constitutional provisions regarding direct taxation. The States had plenary powers of taxation, he said, but gave up the great sources of revenue derived from commerce and retained the power of levying taxes and duties covering anything other than excises, but in respect to them the range of taxation was narrowed by the power granted the Federal government over interstate commerce. While they granted the power of apportioning direct taxation, they secured to the States the opportunity to pay the amount apportioned and to recoup from their own citizens in the most feasible way. The opinion continued:

"It is said that a taxation on the who neome of property is not direct tax, bu a duty. We do not think so. Direct taxa

"It is said that a taxation on the whole income of property is not direct tax, but a duty. We do not think so. Direct taxation was not restricted in one breath and the restriction blown to the winds in another." The opinion dismissed the Hilton case with this comment: "What was decided in the Hilton case was that a tax on carriages was an excise and therefore an indirect tax." The opinion next took up the argument that a tax upon properly is not a direct tax within the meaning of the Constitution, and said:
"We find it impossible to hold that a fundamental requisition, deemed so important as to have been enforced by two provisions, one affirmative and one negative, can be defined away by forced distinctions between them, which gives value to property and property taxelf. The street of argument is thrown, however, on the assertion that the income tax is not a property tax at all; that it is an assessment upon the taxpayer on account of his money spending power, as shown by his revenue for the year preceding the assectment; that rents received, crops harvested and interest collected have lost all connection with their origin, and, although once not taxable, have been transmitted in their new form into taxable subject matter. In other words, that income is taxable, irrespective of the source whence it is derived."

The Chief Justice said that since the court had held unanimously that receipts from municipal bonde should not be taxed because the bonds were instruments of States, the same rule applied to revenue from other sources not subjected to the tax, and the lack of power to levy any but an apportioned tax on real and personal property equally exists as to revenue therefrom. "The court does not understand," it says, "that the snoome tax has ever been regarded in England as other than a direct tax."

After reviewing the cases and considering the arguments of counsel, the court, as it approached its conclusions, made the following general argument:

After reviewing the cases and considering the arguments of counsel, the court, as it approached its conclusions, made the following general argument:

"If it were a fact that there had been no income-tax law such as this at the time the Constitution was framed and adopted, it would not be of controlling importance. A direct tax cannot be taken out of the constitutional rule because the particular tax did not exist at the time the rule was prescribed. As Chief Justice Marshall said in the Dartmouth College case, it is not enough to say that the controlling case was not in the mind. lege case, it is not enough to say that this particular case was not in the mind of the convention when the article was framed, nor of the American people when it was adopted. It is necessary to go further and to say that had this particular case been suggested, the language would have been so varied as to exclude it, or it would have been made a special exception. The case being within the words of the rule, must be within its operation likewise, unless there be something in the liberal construction so obviously absurd or mischlevous or repugnant to the general spirit of the instrument as to justify those who expound the Constitution in making it an exception.

viously absurd or mischievous or repugnant to the general spirit of the instrument as to justify those who expound the Constitution in making it an exception.
"The tax being direct, and therefore to be laid by apportionment, is there any real difficulty in doing so? Cannot Congress, if the necessity exists of raising thirty, forty, or any other number of million dollars for the support of the government in addition to the revenue from duties, imposts and excises, apportion the quota of each State upon the basis of the census and thus advise it of the payment which must be made and ploceed to assess that amount on all the real or personal property or the income of persons in the State and collect the amount according to its own system and in its own way?

ecretary's Opinion of the "Great Crime" of Twenty-two Years Ago—Traces the Trouble Further Back.

COVINGTON (Ky.,) May 20.-The Secretary of the United States Treasury, Hon. J. G. Carlisle, opened the discussion of J. G. Carlisle, opened the discussion of the question of sound money here today in a quaint !ecture hall called Central Garden. The hall is in the middle of a beer garden. The hall is a theater-like struc-ture with a little stage at one end where the song and dance artists are wont to enliven dull hours. The rush to hear the was given up when the pressure for addission by voters was felt.

The beginning of the address was de-layed by a street demonstration of condderable magnitude. It was 8:30 o'clock when the crowd at the doors parted and Mr. Carlisle, escorted by Congressman Berry and accompanied by M. E. Ingalls and Gen. Michael Ryan, Assistant United States Treasurer, entered the hall. Shortly afterward the working clubs entered to the tune of "Old Kentucky Home" and "Dixie," followed by the plaintive "Auld Lang Syne." Twenty minutes later Hon.
A. S. Berry introduced the speaker in a brief speech, in which he paid a highcompliment to the man who, under the most difficult circumstances, had faithfully administered his high office. After tu-multious appliause again and again re-peated, Mr. Carlisle began his address.

Mr. Carlisle prefaced his remarks with brief introduction in which he assured a brief introduction in which he assured his audience "that I am not and do not expect to become a candidate for any of-fice in the gift of the people or their rep-resentatives, and that I do not appear in the State in the interest of any candi-date.

the State in the interest of any candidate.

"There has never been a time," continued the Secretary, "since the close of the civil war and the settlement of the questions growing out of it, when passion and prejudice exerted such a powerful influence in controlling the action of the people upon political and economic questions as they have during the last two years. A great wave of depression has swept over the whole industrial, commercial and financial world, more injurious in its effects in some places than in others, but entailing great loss and distress nearly everywhere. It did not begin twenty years ago, as some of our friends are in the habit of asserting, but less than five years ago, its first serious effects were felt in Argentina, where the people and the government, notwith-reading the many contractions.

again the experiment of a cheap and in-flated currency."

The Secretary reviewed the acts of the last Republican administration, and de-clared that the present administration, "found the financial affairs of the govern-"found the financial affairs of the government in a most unsatisfactory and precarious condition, and rapidly growing worse. Unwise legislation had already produced its inevitable results, and whatever criticism the impatient spirit of a disappointed and restless people may have prompted them to make upon the present administration, I am sure impartial history will place the responsibility for what has occurred where it properly belongs, and I am wilking to wait until it is written. "Whether we shall continue to preserve our existing monetary system under which all the dollars in use, whether they be gold, silver or paper, possess equal purthe change power in the markets, or provide to by law for the free and unlimited coinage of cliver dollars containing 412½ grains of standard silver, and make them the units and measures of value in the exchange of commodities and in the payment of debts, is by far the most important chestion that has been presented for the consideration of the Amelican people during this generation, and that question now confronts us. It is incumbent upon those who insist upon the adoption of this revolutionary policy to show plainly and conclusively in advance not only that it would be positively beneficial, for if not positively one class of our citizens or one section of our country against another or by the use of extravaging the control of the control of Cannot Congress, if the necessity exists of raising thirty, forty, or any other number of million dollars for the support of the government in addition to the revenue from duties, imposts and excises, apportion the census and thus advise it of the payment which must be made and phoceed to assess that amount on all the real or personal property-or-the income of persons in the State and collect the same if the State does not meantime assume and pay its quota and collect the amount according to its own system and in its own way? Inconveniences might possibly attend the levy of an income tax, but that it is apportionable is hardly denied, although it is asserted that it would operate so unequally as to be undesirable.

"It is apparent that the suggestion that the result of compliance with the fundamental law would lead to the shandonment of that method of taxation adogether, because of inequalities alloged to necessarily accompany its pursuit, could not be allowed to influence the conclusion, but the suggestion of unnaturally invites attention to the contention of appellant's counsel that the want of unformsky and equality in, this act is such as to invisidate it; and figures drawn from the census are given, showing that enormous assets of actual insurance companies, of milding transcriptions are exempted, and that the exemptions reach so many hundred mildings that the reach of taxation would perhaps have been reduced one-half if they had not been made to the same in the exemptions reach so many hundred mildings that the reach of taxation would perhaps have been reduced one-half if they had not been any business which he such conduction which is a substantially reliable, if the sum desired to be raised and been apportioned in the contention of the collected the amount by its own methods would or could under us constitution have allowed a large part of the property alluded to be larged part of the property alluded to be larged part of the property alluded to be larged part of the propert and its direulation to a large ambeen maintained concurrently with forms of money, notwithstanding been coined at a ratio which does form to the rest value of the mained in it. In the United States pounds of silver coined left will now purchase as much as or of gold coins, but this would no case under a system of free and coinage on individual account. "I have never been, and amunfriendly to silver in the sense ing to see it excluded from the system of the United States, or other country, but I know that he kept in directable which which the is one country may attempt to estatewen the two metals, and that way to secure the use of both at way to secure the use of both at

"It is well known personally this audience who enough to know what was transpiring in 1873 that there was not a dollar of silver in circulation at that date. The only metailic or redemption money in use at that time was gold, which amoun only $125,000,000, including what the itallic or redemption money in use here at that time was gold, which amounted to only $135,000,000, including what the government was using, whereas we now have about $425,000,000 in gold and $337,652,573 in full legal-tender silver, besides about $37,000,000 in subsidiary silver coin. If, therefore, prices have fallen since $1873, the decline has taken place in spite of the fact that our full legal-tender metallic money has been increased ustil it now amounts to more than seven times as much as it did at that date, and consequently the alleged decline in prices must be attributed to some other couse than the demonetization of silver. These facts prove not spit that the demonetization of silver did not reduce the amount of redemption money in this country, but they prove also that the fundamental proposition of the advocates of free coinage is erroneous and that prices are not fixed or regulated by the amount of redemption money alone for, if so, prices should have increased since 1873.

"As long as there appeared to be reasonable ground for the hope that silver could be raised to a parity of vaite with gold at the ratio of 16 to 1 by the separate action of the United States I was willing to make the experiment, but I was never willing to make the experiment, but I was never willing to make the experiment, but I was never willing to make the proposed of silver at that or any other ratio. The only speech I ever made in Congress on this subject was delivered in the House of Representatives more than seventeen years ago, at a time when the value of the bullion contained in a gold dollar and I, together with many other opponents of free coinage, believing that a restoration of silver to our mints would bring it to's parity with gold, supported a measure providing for the limited coinage of silver to our mints would bring it to's parity with gold, supported a measure providing denhance its price or value, were mistaken. Instead of increasing the price of silver it continued to fall with greater rapidity than before, nair as much as the button contained in a gold dollar.

"The conditions have entirely changed since 1878, and I do not understand that even our free-colnage friends in Kentucky or elsewhere now contend that any legislation by this country alone could place silver on a parity with gold at the rails its to 1. On the contrary, they insist at the free and unlimited coinage of liver at that ratio would give the people heap money and I agree with them that would have that effect, but it would to be cheap money if it were equal in alue to gold. The speech made by me in the occasion referred to has been arbied and twisted and perverted in and at of Congress during the past two mars with a malicious ingenuity which has searcely ever been equalled in the liscussion of a public question, and yet as one, has ever ventured to make the liscussion of a public question, and yet as one, has ever ventured to make the liscussion of a public question, and yet as one, has ever ventured to make the liscussion of the free coinage of silver. It was, in fact, made in opposition to tree coinage and in support of the Senate mustitute for a free-coinage bill, as can be seen by anyone who will take the trouble to read it.

cate will have no trouble in bringing of the fight. A purse of $40,000 to $41,000 will the night. A purse of action to the plan is to have the bout take place at the time of the Dallas fair, which event attracts great crowds. My idea would be to have it on the night of Drummers' day, about October 20. On that day the city is filled with rep-20. On that day the city is filled with representatives of every section of the country. The residents of Dallas look upon the bringing-off of the event as in the nature of an advertisement for the city and the State. The contest can be brought of in Dallas and the money will be ready when the negotiations are completed. All we want of the men is to fight when they enter the ring. I have a plain business proposition to make, and the arrangements should be completed in short time."

Sir Edward Clarke, counsel for Wilde, made an elaborate argument in favor of having Wilde tried separately. The judge agreed and decided to try Taylor first. Sir Edward Clarke them dwelt at length on the great injustice done his client by having to wait while Alfred Taylor was tried, but in spite of the argument of his counsel, Wilde looked only too pleased as he stepped from the dock and the judge allowed the bail to be renewed, and he was again released from custody on bail. It is probable that Wilde's case will go over until the next session of the Central Criminal Court, and there is evidently but slight chance of his conviction. MILLIONS AT STAKE

A Squabble Over Church Property
Held by Archbishop Kenrick.

Secolated Press Leased-wire Service.

ST. LOUIS, May 20.—Prominent Catholic clergy and laymen figure in a suit filed Saturday in the District Courtagainst the venerable Archbishop Peter Richard Kenrick by priests of his diocese and laymen to divest him of all title and control in the valuable church property of the archbiocese of St. Louis held by him in fee.

The petition avers that the defendant is 39 years of age and so weak in mind as to be unable to perform the duties of his office. On this account the property held by him, consisting of lands, churches, convents, cemeteries and saylums, is liable to be lost or impaired. The prayer for the appointment of another trustee is only a request that the law transfer the diocesan property to coadjutator Archbishop Kain. Several months ago a newspaper controversy arose over the reported loss of Archbishop Kenrick's will. Archbishop Kain gave out at the time that the testament was in the hands of Archbishop Hennessy of Dubuque, Iowa. Since then, however, another and later will has been found. The plaintiffs, who, by the way, act as beneficiaries of the trust, say this last will is confused and almost impossible of interpretation, that the devisements would come to naught in case Archbishop Kenrick died and this instrument was filled for probate.

Another cause for fear growing out of the improperivations.

kenrick died and this instrument was filed for probate.

Another cause for fear growing out of the improperly-drawn will is the possible action of heirs of Archbishop Kenrick. This danger is anticipated from Ireland, where the aged prelate is supposed to have relatives. Were he to die and not leave a valid will, these heirs would have a prima facie cause for action for the possession of millions which he holds in fee simple. The anxiety of Archbishop Kain and his advisers to avert publicity and a lawsuit brought Archbishop Ryan of Philadelphia to this city a few weeks ago. Archbishop Ryan went home unsuccessful and the lawyers set to work. Yesterday's suit is the last resort of Archbishop Kain to get full control of the diocese which Rome intends him to rule.

the city is discussing the probability of a duel between Dr. Willis F. Westmoreland and Lawyer Daniel W. Rountree, both of Atlanta, who are now in New York. The men have been on bad terms for some time. They went to Abbey's Theater on Friday night and blows are said to have been exchanged. Dr. Westmoreland, according to reports, took the initiative, and his enemy vowed vengeance when they were separated. It is generally feared a duel may result.

The meeting of the men was the first one outside of Georgia sime they were both put under bonds to keep the peace, two years ago. They quarreled then over money mathers, and preliminaries were arranged for a duel. The authorities got wind of the impending affair and put a stop to it by requiring a peace bond of $5000 from Westmoreland and one of $3000 from Rountree. The men are well known in the South. Westmoreland has just retired from the presidency of the Georgia Medical Society, and Rountree has represented a South Georgia county in the State Legislature. Rountree is a guest at the Imperial Hotel. Legislature. Roun Imperial Hotel.

BOSTON (Mass.,) May 20.—A local paper today publishes the results of interviews with the leading New England Republicans on the probable nominee to be supported by the New England delegates in 1896. The article says:

"Many were distinctined to talk, assigning as a reason that it was rather early yet to make a Presidential nomination. Some said they thought McKinley the logical candidate, but would rather not offend Mr. Reed by saying so. Boston politicians did not seem to be very enthusiastic over anybody, though they admitted that as a matter of local pride Mr. Reed would probably receive the support of the New England delegation if he desired their votes in the convention. Maine is a a matter of course, strongly for Reed and her leading Republicans predict he will have the solid New England delegation. Connecticut' and Rhode Island men are sure Reed cannot car'rol this delegation and say they extended the convention of the weathern man. New Sahire and Vermont are not as enthus and they would no doubt swing into line for Reed were other States, including Massachusetts, to favor him, which seems likely. The situation seems to show that while Reed has a strong hold on the hearts of New England delegation as a unit, owing to the attitude of Rhode Island and Connecticut."

The article does not indicate which is the stronger in New England, Harrison or McKinley.

PLAYING TRICKS ON PATIENTS. Sick Persons Sometimes Tell Whop-

Sick Persons Sometimes Tell Whoppers to Their Physicians.

(Washington Star:) "One meets with many odd freaks of human nature in my profession," said a physician. "Perhaps the most common is the weakness of lying to the doctor. When a person goes to a medical man to be treated, the sensible thing is obviously to help him to judge of the case by giving all details as to pains and other symptoms with as much accuracy as possible. That anybody should try to deceive the physician to whom he or she is applying for advice seems the height of absurdity. Yet I do assure you that it is done so constantly that we have always to be on our guard. Women are much more given to that sort of folly than men are. I have a lady on my list of patients who is truthful enough, I doubt not, in all other affairs; but she does not hesitate to mislead me as far as she can by false statements respecting her own maladies, though she is extremely anxious to get well. I confess that it is a psychological puzzle.

"Besides the people who deliberately and willfully tell lies to the doctor, there are others who are misled to an astonishing extent by their own imaginations. I will cite a case in point. Only yesterday a lady came to see me professionally for the first time. She told me that her vision was very bad. Her eyes looked all right, and I tried her sight by means of a card with printed letters of various sizes. From arons the room she was unable to read even the biggest of the letters. and I tried her sight by means of a card with printed letters of various sizes. From across the room she was unable to read even the biggest of the letters. I put a pair of glasses in front of her eyes, and she at once exclaimed:

"Oh, doctor! That is wonderful, I can see ever so much better now."

'In fact, she was able to read all of the letters, down to the very smallest, exhibiting a power of vision quite up to the normal.

"This is certainly very surprising, madam," I said. "The spectacles which have helped your sight so much are nothing more nor less than common window glass."

"Naturally she was very much astonished, and would not believe me at first. But I convinced her at length that her trouble was entirely imaginary, and she went away in a decidedty pleased state of mind.

trouble was entirely imaginary, and she went away in a decidedly pleased state of mind.

"It does not always do, however, to be so frank with victims of such hallucinations. This morning a lady who is a regular patient of mine, called upon me. She was, as usual, in a state of intense nervous excitement. Another new symptom had appeared in her case. She was convinced that something was the matter with her brain. By chance I happened to notice that her hair was arranged in a way different from her customary fashlon, and doubtless that was the reason for the soreness. Most women have noticed that to part the hair in a fresh place is apt to make the scalp sore for a time. It is simply because the hairs are turned in a new direction.

"I said nothing about that to my patient, save to suggest that she should wear her hair in the old fashlon. I gave her a prescription for something harmless. Nothing more was needed, because the woman is in first-rate health, and there is nothing at all the matter with her physically.

is in first-rate health, and there is noth-ing at all the matter with her physically. But it would never do for me to tell her that her maladles are purely imaginary. If I did so she would not believe me, and she would seek another physician. "In cases like this the conscientious medical practitioner finds nothing better to do than to humor the patient."

escape taxation. If so, a better measure of equality would have been attained than would be otherwise possible, since, according to the serguments for the government, the rule of equality is not prescribed by the Constitution as to Federal taxation, and the observance of such a rule as inherent in sell just taxation is purely a matter of legislative discretion.

"Elaborane argument is made as to the efficacy and merits of an income-tax in general, as on the one hand equal and just, and on the other classic and uncertain, that it is not open to abuse by such dedications and exemptions as might make taxation under it so wanting in unifformity and equality as in substance to amount to deprivation of property without due process of haw; not that it is not open to fraud and evasion and inquisitorial in its methods, but because it is pre-eminently a tax upon the rich, and enables the burden of taxes of consumption and of duties on imports to be sensibly dinántabed. And it is said that the United States as the representative of an indivisible nationality; as a political sovercism equal in authority to any other on the face of the globe; adequate to all emergencies, foreign or domestic, and having at its command for offense and defense and for all governmental purposes all the resources of the nations' would be, 'but a maimed and crippled creation after all,' unless it possesses the power to lay a tax on the income of real and personal property throughout the United States without apportionment.

"The power to tax real and personal property and the income from both through apportionment is conceded; that such a tax is a direct tax in the meaning of the Constitution has no then denied and in our judgment cannot be successfully denied, and we are thus invited to bestizate in the enforcement of the mandate of the Constitution has no then denied and in our judgment cannot be successfully denied, and we are thus invited to bestize in the enforcement of the mandate of the Constitution and we must so declare.

"Differences ha

taxes, and if it does it is being apportioned in violation of the Constitution and we must so declare.
"Differences have often occurred in this court; differences now exist, but there has never been a time in its history when there has been a difference of opinion as to its duty to announce its deliberate conclusions unaffected by considerations not pertaining to the case in hand. If it be true that the Constitution should have been so framed that a tax of this kind could be laid, the instrument defines the way for its amendment. In no part of it was greater asgacity displayed. Except that no State, without its consent, can be deprived of its equal suffrage in the Senate, the Constitution may be so amended upon the concurrence of twothirds of both houses, and the ratification of the legislatures of two-thirds of the thirds of both houses, and the ratification of the iegislatures of two-thirds of the iegislatures of two-thirds of the States. The ultimate sovereignty may be thus called into place by a slow and deliberate process which gives time for mere hyopthesis to exhaust itself and the sober second thought of every part of the country to be asserted.

"Being of the opinion that so much of the sections of this law as lays a tax on income from real and personal property is invalid, we are brought to the question of the effect of that conclusion upon these sections as a whole. It is elementary that the same statute may be in part constitutional and in-part unconstitutional, and if the parts are wholly independent of each other that which is constitutional will be rejected.

"And in the case before us there is no

each other that which is constitutional may stand while that which is unconstitutional will be rejected.

"And in the case before us there is no question as to the validity of this act, except secs. 27 to 37, inclusive, which relate to the subject which has been under discussion, and as to them we think the rule laid down by Chief Justice Shaw in Warren vs. Charleston is applicable; that if the different parts are 'so mutually connected with and dependent on each other as conditions, considerations or compensations for each other as to warrant a belief that the legislature intended them as a whole and that if all could not be carried into effect the legislature would not pass the residue independently, and some parts are constitutional, all the provisions which are thus dependent, conditional or connected must fall with them.' Or as the point is put by Justice Matthews in Poindexter vs. Greenhowe, 'It is undoubtedly true that there may be cases where one part of a statute may be declared incoperative and void because unconstitu-that it may not have been willing by itself to enact.

"And again, as stated by! the same eminent judge in Prague vs. Thompson where it was urged that certain illegal exceptions in a section of a statute might be disregarded, but the rest could stand, the insuperable difficulty with the application of that principle of construction to the present instance is that by rejecting the exceptions intended by the Legislature of Georgia the State is made to enact what confessedly. the Legislature never meant. It confers upon the statute a positive operation beyond the legislative intent and beyond what any one can say it would have enacted in view of the illegality of the exceptions.

"According to the census, the true valuation of real and personal property in the United States in 1890 was $55,037,091,191, of which real estate with improvements thereon made up $33,544,544,332. Of course from the latter must be deducted in applying these sections all unproductive property and all property whose net yield does not exceed $4000, but even with such deductions it is evident that the income from realty formed a vital part of the scheme for taxation embodied therein. If that be stricken out and also the income from all invested personal property, bonds, stocks, investments of all kinds, it is obvious that by far the largest part of the anticipated revenue would be eliminated and this would leave the burden of the tax to be bogne by professions, trades, employments or vocations and in that way what was taxes sufficient to pay the debts and defray the expenses of government and was dependent in all such matters upon the good-will of the States, and promptness in meeting the requisitions made upon them by Congress.

"In its practical operations this decision withdraws from national taxation not only all incomes derived from real estate, but the personal property of the whole country, personal property of the whole country, personal property, bonds, stocks, investments of all kinds and the income that may be derived from such property.
This result is from the fact that, under the decision of the court, such incomes cannot be taxed otherwise than by apportionment among the States on the basis of simply of population. No such apportionment can possibly be made without doing monstrous, wicked injustice to the many for the benefit of the favored few in particular States. Any attempt on the part of Congress to apportion taxes on incomes among the States on the basis of their appulation, would, and property ought to, arouse such indignation among the freemen of America that it would never be repealed. The American majority practically decides that without an amendment of the Constitution such incomes can never be made to contribute to the support of the national government.

"If this new theory of the Constitution, as I believe it to be; if this new departure from the way marked out by the fathers is justified by the fundamental law, the American people cannot too soon smend' their Constitution. The judgment just rendered defeats the purpose of Congress by taking out of the revenue not less than 30,000,000, and possibly $50,000,000 expected to be raised from incomes. We know from the official reports of both houses of Congress that taxation would not have been reduced to the extent it was by the Wilson act but for the belief that if the country had the benefit of revenue derived from a tax on incomes, that could be safely done. In every possible way the Wilson act but for the belief that if the i part of a statute may be enforced as constitutional and another be declared inoperative and void because unconstitutional, but these are cases where the parts are so distinctly separate that each can stand alone and where the court is able to see and declare that the intention of the legislature was that the part pronounced valid should be enforceable, even though the other part should fail. To hold otherwise would be to substitute for the law intended by the legislature, one that it may not have been willing by itself to enact."

"And again, as stated by the same eminent judge in Prague vs. Thompson where it was urged that certain illegal exceptions in a section of a statute might be disregarded, but the rest could stand, the insuperable difficulty with the application of that principle of construction to the present instance is that by

JUSTICE JACKSON'S DISSENT.

The views of no other member of the court have been the subject of so much speculation as those of Justice Jackson who, it was thought, would practically be referee in the case. Justice Jackson said that his health had not been equal a dissenting opinion. Justice Harian said that at the former hearing it had been adjudged that a tax on rents was a direct tax, and must be apportioned among the States. He had dissented from that view, concurring in the able opinion of Justice White, to shield appoint the state of the States. He had dissented from that view, concurring in the able opinion of Justice White, to shield an abditional authority, the opinion of Justice Strong in the case of Clark vs. Sickle, which he quoted at some length. He eard this decision was significant and meant that virtually all incomes should be taxed. He said sews in detail, and bispers, as now printed, would be of a governal charseter. Capitalization taxes and taxe on land, he contended, should be considered as direct, and they had been uniformly held at be. He quoted from the views of Justices of the consitutional others on the old protroment, holding that the rules had been consulted only when it could be reasonably applied. The changes contempsted from the former practice in this matter, Justice Harian and, were little less that done in former Every one concess been the same as a tray were if there had been no reference in the Constitution to direct taxe.

He held the tax on rents to be a duty, or something entirely different from a tax on land from which rent was collected. He combated the stavened its former diecision and said incidentally that the present law was to continue in operation for only five years. A tax on land is generally a lieu on land, while that on rents is now, in the constitution to direct taxe.

In his judgment, to say nothing of former holdings of the control of the control

BROWN'S DISSENT.

Justice Brown, in bis dissent, said that if the question what is and what is not a direct tax were now for the first time presented, he should entertain a grave doubt whether, in view of the definition of a direct tax given by the courts and writers on political economy during the present century, it ought not to be held to apply not only to an income tax, but to every tax, the burden of which is borne immediately and ultimately by the person paying it. He regards it as very clear that the clause requiring direct tax ation be apportioned as to the population has no application to taxes which are not capable of apportioned as to the population has no application to taxes which are not capable of apportioned as according to population. It could not be supposed that the Constitution could have contemplated a practical inhibition upon the power of Congress to tax in some way all taxable property within the jurisdiction of the Federal government for the purpose of a national revenue.

Justice Brown said in conclusion: "Respect for the Constitution will not be inspired by a narrow and technical decision which shall limit the narrow powers of Congress. The decision involves nothing less than the surrender of the 'taxing power to the money class. While I have no doubt that Congress will find some means of surmounting the present crisis my fear is that in some moment of national peril this decision will rise up to no doubt that Congress will find some means of surmounting the present crisis my fear is that in some moment of national peril this decision will rise up to frustrate its will and paralyze its arm. I hope it may not prove the first step toward submergence of the liberties of the people in a sordid despotism of wealth. Then came Justice White.

JUSTICE WHITE'S OPINION. Justice White stated his views briefly. From first to last, he said, the opinion of From first to last, he said, the opinion of the majority was but a series of contradictory propositions, one eating up and destroying the other. Speaking of the grounds upon which he dissented, he laid great stress on the Hilton case and enunciated the legal points he had made in his first decision in the case. In conclusion, he said the injustice of the conclusion points to the error of adopting it. It takes invested wealth and reads it into the Constitution as a favored and pro-It takes invested wealth and reads it into the Constitution as a favored and protected class of property, while it leaves the occupation of the minister, the doctor, the proprietor, the lawyer, the inventor, the merchant and all the various forms of human activity upon which the prosperity of a people must depend, subject to taxation without apportionment.

"The absolute inequality and injustice of taxing by reference to population and without regard to the amount of wealth taxed, is so manifest that to admit the power to tax and limit to this more substantially denies the power itself, since it imposes a restriction which renders its exercise practically impossible."

A few extemporaneous remarks were made by Justice White after the reading of his written opinion. He spoke of the

HOW TO RAISE THE "STUFF." WASHINGTON, May 20.—In view of the almost certain loss of $20,000,000 of revenue almost certain loss of $20,000,000 of revenue-expected from the income tax and the ad-mitted certainty of a deficit at the close of the fiscal year, the treasury officials are beginning to turn their attention to the question of providing new sources of revenue. When questioned on the subject the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Jo-seph S. Miller, said the repeated sugges-tions for an increased tax on beer would undoubtedly be called to the attention of Congress.

undoubtedly be called to the attention of Congress.

"We must have more revenue," said the commissioner, "and the easiest, cheapest and least burdensome internal tax would be one on malt liquors. We could increase the tax to any amount without the expenditure of another dollar or the employment of a single extra clerk. It is just as easy to collect $2 a barrel as half of that amount, and the difference would not affect the price of beer to the would not affect the price of beer to the consumer."

This statement indicates that this inconsumer."

This statement indicates that this increased beer tax will become an administration measure as soon as Congress meets. The production of beer for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894, was 33,334,783 barrels, so that an addition of $1 a barrel would bring in as much as was anticipated for this year from the inchame tax and quite as much as will be received from the sum as duty unless, prices improve. Some of the treasury experts are figuring on a revenue duty on tea, and this will have the support of the heavy importers who wish to shut out the cheap grades. Any attempt to raise more revenue from beer will bring to Washington a strong lobby representing the brewing interests. To avoid clashing with Democratic free-trade theories, an effort will be made to secure the imposition of revenue duties not only on tea, but on other luxuries, so as to provide revenue while the expected fight on the beer tax is in progress.

PEOPLE TO GET THEIR MONEY BACK.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Commissioner Miller of the Internal Revenue Bureau to-day sent this telegram to collectors of revenue:

"Income-tax law declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court. Stop all work in connection therewith and send to this office at once under seal all books, assessment lists, returns and records in your office or hands of deputies relating to income tax."

The Commissioner's opinion is that $35,-000,000 or $40,000,000 would have been collected during the first year had the entire law been sustained by the court, and Although today's decision will naturally cut down the anticipated revenues of the government it is not though that it will necessitate an extra session of. Congress unless some unlooked-for contingency arises. It is known that the administration does not regard an extra session as necessary, although the revenues during the last month have not been at all satisfactory. The customs receipts particularly are surprisingly low. The deficit for the facal year on January 31, 1895, was 334, 246,386. On February 28 this had been increased to nearly 338,000,000, and on April 30 to about $45,350,000. The deficit as reported yesterday was $51,043,584. POSTMASTER-GENERAL WILSON IS HOPEFUL.

POSTMASTER-GENERAL WILSON IS HOPEFUL.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—"That is just as I expected," said Postmaster-General Wilson, when the news of the income-tax decision was carried to him. "Well, it is not so serious as the general view of it seems to make it. If trade revives and continues to improve as it has of late, there will be revenue enough. From now on increasing and larger amounts of whisky must be taken out under the new tax, and this increase will amount to over $15,000,000 a year. With the increase of revenue from the customs duties the new tax on whisky will make up the deficit. This month, you see, the internal revenue collections are $6,000,000, and the tariff about $7.000,000, while we paid out over $10,000,000. I think times are improving and that the government will have all necessary revenue and that the deficit will soon be a thing of the past."

"Of course I do not conceal my gratification at the decision. It is a victory of law over socialism. It is a triumph of decent and intelligent men over the demagogues and adventurers. It is a vindication of the Constitution as the best law of the country; it is a defeat for political blatherskites who were clamoring without reason for a new scheme of taxation. It seriously antagonized the business interests of the country and placed the Democratic party in a faise light. The decision today announced will do more good, will be of more lasting benefit to our free institutions, will clear the political atmosphere better than anything which has occurred in this decade."

cision of the Supreme Court declaring the income tax unconstitutional. The Times says: "As things stand, the weight of authority falls on the same side as the weight of numbers. The practical result is that a direct taxation must fall on the citizen in direct proportion to his voting power, without reference to the amount of his property."

The Chronicle says: "The loss of £6,000,000 of revenue must still further derange American finances, but the millionaires have escaped the net, and the people generally will be compelled to make up the deficit. It is a strange condition of American democracy and limitations of the American Constitution."

The Partition of Africa.

(Harper's Weekly:) The partition of property which in no sense belongs to the partitioners is always a delicate operation. When it is undertaken by individuals who are only public characters by virtue of their celebrity in the annals of police courts the practice has generally been a fruitful source of misunderstanding; and even when undertaken by statesmen on behalf of nations it has not unusually led to complications. Since the historical partition of Poland between its powerful neighbors there has not been any attempt of this kind on a large scale until lately, when the principle was applied to the case of Africa. Britain, it is true, has for a century or so been doing a very brisk business in the annexation of various unconsidered trifies in the way of territory in different parts of the world. There is no reason, indeed, to suppose that she would have been unwilling to do as The Partition of Africa. officerent parts of the world. Inere is mo reason, indeed, to suppose that she would have been unwilling to do as much for Africa had circumstances permitted. The country which absorbed Hindostan, and swallowed Australia at a mouthful, could probably have done as much for the Dark Continent without any very painful effort.

In the case of Africa, however, circumstances were adverse. The succulent morsel of territory was a large one, and it was less distant from the other European countries than others which had already been assimilated by Great Britain at her leisure. If Africa was to become European property, it not unnaturally seemed fair to other nations that some small slice should fall to them. The consequence has been the great partition of Africa, without her own consent, which has been going on cheerfully for the last fifteen years or so. The whole business has been conducted with official politeness which has left little to be desired. England took a bite—usually a pretty substantial one — here, and ure. In relation to its general effects, Senator Hill said:
"The Supreme Court of the United States is entitled to the thanks of the country of the continent. The rights of Poris entitled to the thanks of the country for its decision against a law which sanctioned unequal taxtion and against an enactment which was clamored for only by Populists, cranks and demagogues. That court has vindicated its wisdom and intrenched itself in the confidence of the people. Public sentiment was right in demanding that the whole law be set aside. I never could fathom the means which induced President Cleyeland and Secretary Carlisle in December, 1893, to recommend the adoption of an income tax. It was a serious mistake. That policy delayed, hindered and almost defeated the tariff referan bill. tions could afford to be friendly, and even generous. A new vocabulary was invented to suit the circumstances, and "spheres of influence" and there seemed to be a hope that took the place of conquered territories. It was all done for the good of Africa, with so much philanthropy abroad might be comfortably cut up and divided among its self-appointed regenerators without any risk of misunder stantings. standings.

berests of the country and placed the Democratic party in a false light. The decision today announced will do more good, will be of more lasting benefit to our free institutions, will clear the political atmosphere better than anything which has occurred in this decade."

NEW YORK, May 20.—Ex-President Harrison was asked this afternoon for his opinion concerning the decision declaring the income tax to be unconstitutional. He said that he was very busy, and had really no opinion to express, beyond saying that in view of the mangled state the bill was in, it was better that it had met the fate it did at the hands of the Supreme Court.

BUSINESS.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

LOS ANGELES, May 20, 1895. BIG FIGURES. Few persons who have not investigated the subject have any con-ception of the immense extent to which the life-insurance business has grown in this country. A statistician gives the num ber of insurance polices existing in the world a year ago as 5,137,667, represent-ing a total of $9,831,777,000, of which America had nearly a third of the whole num ber of policies, and more than half the ineurance. The growth of several of the great American insurance companies is one of the wonders of the financial world. Three of them have nearly a billion dol-Three of them nave nearly a billion dol-lars of insurance outstanding; their re-celpts approximate those of the largest railroad corporations—that is to say, nearly $50,000,000 a year—and their assets ap-proximate $200,000,000 each. proximate $200,000,000 each. Commenting upon these figures, the Investor says:

"Whether these great companies are not growing unwieldy—whether the control and investment of such enormous sums of money will not eventually turn the strongest head dizzy—whether the future of these companies is not a serious problem—all these are questions well worth considering, but hard to answer. Life insurance is a wonderful system, but whether all its principles have yet been worked out correctly may well be doubted."

COMMERCIAL THE FRUIT MARKET. The marketing of the deciduous fruit crop of California will soon be well under way, commencing with cherries and apricots, and then prolong list of other est attaches to the deciduous-fruit market est attaches to the deciduous-fruit market this year, owing to the wide-spread de-struction of fruit in the East, the result of which upon prices of California fruit can so far only be guessed at. It is, however, conceded by all that the Eastern freeze will cause prices of California fruit to be higher than they have been for some years past.

fruit to be higher than they have been for some years past.

Unfortunately, the California crop will not be so heavy as it might have been, owing to the frost, which did some damage in the northern part of the State in March. In no variety of fruit, except, perhaps, in the case of peaches and wainuts, will the yield be above the average, while some varieties will fall consideably below the average, According to reports given out by the State Board of Horticulture, all of California north of the Tehachepi, suffered from the March frosts, particularly in Napa, Vacaville and Suleun districts. The first reports were that great ramage had been done; then it was said it would be slight. But the secondary effects, arising from the the secondary effects, arising from the obtained to the secondary effects. But the secondary effects, arising from the chilling of the eap in the trees, caused the greatest damage, and now apricots, prunes, Bartlett pears and some cherries the greatest damage, and now apricots, prunes, Bartlett pears and some cherries are dropping.

Apricots are in the worst condition. In the Sacramento Valley, where they were the least affected, there will be a haif crop, and in other sections sone-third of a crop. In some places the apricots are a total loss.

Cherries have dropped some from the trees in Alameda, Napa. Sonoma and Santa. Clara counties. There will be, however, a fair crop of this fruit.

Bartlett pears are dropping badly, especially north of San Francisco. Probably there will be a two-thirds crop in the entire State.

Prunes are also dropping, in Sonoma and Napa counties, and, to some extent, in Santa. Clara, but, taking the new-bearing orchards into account, the crop will still be large, unless the dropping process should grow worse from this time on. Peaches are in profusion all over the State, and the crop will be enormous. Grapes were not much injurea, either by the March frosts or the hot winds of last week. There will be a good crop at Fresno, and the wine varieties are in good condition.

Speaking of Solano. Yolo, Napa and part of Sacramento counties, where a large pro-

Fresno, and the wine varieties are in good condition.

Speaking of Solano. Yolo, Napa and part of Sacramento counties, where a large proportion of the fruit raised in Central California is grown, H. M. La Rue, president of the Railroad Commissioners, said a few days ago to an Examiner reporter that appricots and prues continue to fall from the trees and the crops will be very light on those localities. Pears in many cases will also be scarce.

Southern California fruit-growers may be able to judge to a certain extent from these reports whist the prospect is for prices of the coming fruit crop, remembering that this year the Bast will have to depend more than ever before on the output of California orchards.

GENERAL BUSINESS TOPICS.

CALIFORNIA'S POPULATION. The Committee on Immigration of the State Board of Trade recently prepared the fol-lowing report on the the increase of population in the various counties of the State since the census of 1890. The committee used the figures showing the result of the last general election as a basis for report shows a large increase in the population of the State, only five counties showing a decrease:

year of about 73,000. The figures given for Riverside county, which are the same in both columns, are doubtless a clerical or a typographical error. Then, in spite of the gloomy articles that have appeared in the San Francisco papers, it is difficult to believe that San Francisco has actually decreased in population during the past four or five years. It also seems incredible that Colusa county should lose 4130, or over 40 per cent. of its population, within four years. The figures are taken from the San Francisco Chronicle.

It will be noticed that in this table Los Angeles abows up very favorably in comparison with its chief rival, Alameda, which has an increase of only about 6½ per cent.

PENNSYLVANIA OIL FIELDS. The PENNSYLVANIA OIL FIELDS. The oil fields of Pennsylvania have produced during the year 1894 about 30,000,000 barrels of oil. During the year 1893 the total production was 31,000,000 barrels. The oil was sold during 1893 for 64 cents, and last year for 84 cents a barrel. In all about 3900 new wells were drilled in 1894, while in the previous year only 2000 new wells were prepared. The demand for Pennsylvania oil showed no diminution during the year.

ELECTRICAL ENGINEERS. Mr. Fred-erick H. Ford, commenting on an impres-sion which has had a good deal of vogue, remarks as follows in the Electrical World:

remarks as follows in the Electricat World:

"A great mistake is being made in continually holding up the profession of the electrical engineer as one offering almost unlimited possibilities in the matter of salaries and demand for men. This mistake is most frequently made by persons who probably really know nothing whatever of the subject, and who are of the class who are continually making the statement that 'electricity is in its infancy; and the laws which control its workings are but little understood."

"The young man choosing electrical engineering as a profession must do so with the understanding that he will have to work hard and long, and for wages which are not large in relation to the work done. For the young man who loves engineering enough to work for engineering, and not for waith, there is as good a field in electrical work as in any branch of engineering. The idea that there are positions with large salaries attached waiting to be filled by him is a mistake. There are but few large-salaried positions at best, and they are filled by men having large experience and influence with the capitalists back of the company."

A San Diego taxpayer comments on

A San Diego taxpayer comments on Charles Nordhoff's letter to the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce wherein the latter said: "California needs cheaper State and local government." This taxpayer believes that Mr. Nordoff is right, he remarked: "The government of San Diego county coaste from $250 000 to $400. State and local government." This taxpayer believes that Mr. Nordoff is right.
he remarked: "The government of San Diego county costs from $350,000 to $400,000 annually. The city government costs about $200,000. Such an expense is outrageous. In the county are only 35,000 people. Half of them live in San Diego city. It costs more to run this county than it does to run the entire State of Oregon. When it costs $15 to $20 per year for each man, woman and child on account of governmental expenses it is too extravagant. As for State expenses, Gov.
Budd promised a reduced taxation. But under the Budd regime our State tax b4s been increased from 47 cents to 57 cents.

Artificles of imorporation were filed yesterday with the County Olerk by the North

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Wholesale Quotations Revised Daily. LOS ANGELES, May 20, 1895.
A sudden boom has struck the market, and everybody seems busy. There is a good demand for hay, it is an off-year for alfalfa, and prices may go up ere long. Barley hay is 1.00 lower. There is some change in green stuff, and live hogs are 50c lower for better grades. Cherries continue to arrive freely. grades. Cherries continue to arrive freely.

(The following quotations are for average grades of the products mentioned. THE STARCH OUT OF COIN.

FALLACIES KNOCKED HIGHER THAN GILDEROY'S KITE.

Propositions of "Coin" Given in George E. Robert's "Coin at School in Finance."

(Chicago Tribune, May 14, 1895:) The following resolution, passed last Saturday night by such a respectable organization as the Honest Money League of Illinois, is one of the highest compliments that could be paid a book on the silver question just issued from the Chicago press.

the Honest Money League of Illinois, is one of the highest compliments that could be paid a book on the silver question just issued from the Chicago press:

"Resolved, by the Executive Committee of the Honest Money League of Illinois, upon the unanimous recommendation of the Committee on Literature, that George E. Roberts's book entitled 'Coin at School in Finance,' published by the W. B. Conkey Company, Chicago, be and the same is hereby most heartily recommended to all auxiliary leagues in this State as a most convincing and exhaustive reply to 'Coin's Financial School.' It is written in a pleasing and popular style, and its circulation should be encouraged."

The book which has received this commendation is a pamphlet of six chapters and 168 pages, closely resembling, both externally and internally, "Coin's Financial School." It. consists of a series of dialogues worked up into the form of a school and illustrated with a profusion of cuts, some of which are of a satirical character. The first two chapters treat of the alleged decline in prices since 1873; the third of the history of bimetallism in the United States; the fourth of the effects of free and unlimited coinage of silver, if it shall be permitted; the fifth of answers to objections, and the eixth of miscellaneous questions and answers.

In respect to literary style and logical force and directness the book affords a striking and pleasing contrast with its prototype. In passing from Mr. Harvey's book to Mr. Roberts's book one passes from darkness to light, from nonsense to sense, and from deceit and trickery to aincerity and honesty. The crowning excellence of the work, however, is its perspicutive. One cannot read Harvey's book five minutes without feeling that he has dropped a stitch somewhere, and if by going back several pages and reading them over again he can pick it out, he is fortunate. Mr. Roberts's book, on the other hand, is absolutely clear from beginning to end, and the reader becomes increasingly interested in its statements and argume

SCENE LIAID IN IOWA:

As to the literary plan of "Colm at School in Finance." the scene is laid at Bagle Grove, Iowa, instead of Chicago. In the depct hotel of the town one evening in the present spring there were casually gathered together four persons—a brücklayer, a locomotive engineer, and some traveling salesmen. The party naturally fel ito disaussing the crops, the weather, the preveabling process and the business outlook. One of the traveling salesmen happened to remark that "seconding to Coin" prices could go no way but doyn on account of the demonetization of silver. A farmer took him up, and the decussion that followed took up the evening. The next day and thereafter the same men and others continued the discussion in the operations of Bagle Grove, with Judge B. P. Birdsell of the Dutrict Court as chairman and instruction. No better filustration of the simple, direct, and unanswerable style of the book can be given than is found in the following opening passage of the second day's discussion. Said the traveling man:

"There may have been something done in the last century of interest on this question, but what have seemed to me to be the vital points are not so far distant. It is claimed, I believe, that in 1873 a ratifical change was made in our monetary system, been depreciating in value, and must continue to do so. The entire force and mersit of Coin's argument centers in this decline of prices. If no such loss as he describes has in fact been suffered there is nothing to be remedied. These people are chaiming that no general decline can be shown in farm products as marketed in this locality, and that the position of the west learn at once on what point, for if they are right my talterest in the whole question becomes much less scutte. I don't want to me hear work here some the second was the second when the second we have the second work has in fact been con free to the second in this locality, and that the position of the weath has a suc

I beg pardon for the interruptan. but if you can first show these people how much their condition has changed for the worse since 1873. I will guarantee they will listen attentively to why it has grown worse. What have you to say to this farmer's statement that corn was so cheap in lows in 1872 and 1873 that it was burned for fuel?"

with a serene smirk, for the effect of his words.

"Is that sufficient?" repeated the traveling man, looking first to the farmer and then to the bimetallist.

The farmer looked a little dazed.

"Do you say?" he stammered, "that the corn crop of 1893? How can that be? Iowa was scarcely more than half farmed in 1872, and Nobraska and Kansas barely opened. There is some catch about that."

Coin moved uneasily but said nothing. The bimetallist arose with a smile.

"He did not say the corn crop of the United States was greater in 1872 than in 1893. He said the crop of Illinois."

"Oh." said the farmer, his face clearing of perplexity but filling with disgust, "why should a man write such a fool thing as that? The crop of Illinois don't make the price; it is the crop of the whole country."

Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, says
Le Figaro, intends to change the order of succession established by the pragmatic sanction of 1723, by which Maria Theresa became Queen, and to have the crown transferred to his only grandson, the child of his youngest daughter Valerie and the Archduke Francis Salvador. "The corn crop of the United States in 1872," said the bimetailist, "was 1,092,719,000 bushels, and in 1883 1,619,496,131 bushels, or about 50 per cent. greater. But while the Chicago quotations were about the same in the two years, there was a great difference in favor of 1893-1894 to the farmers. The crop of 1872 could not be moved at the price. It was almost unsalable. In this part of Iowa-it was worth only 12½ and 15 cents a bushel at the railroad stations. I hold in my hand the report of the Iowa State Agricultural Society for 1873, which says (p/ 10) of the crop of the previous year: "Untold quantities were burned for fuel, being cheaper than wood or coal at any ressonable rate." On the other hand, the crop of 1893 brought the farmers about 25 cents a bushel at the market towns this distance from Chicago. Is that sufficient as to the corn crops of 1872 and 1893?"

It was evidently sufficient for Coin. The starch was out of his collar, his kneepants disclosed his trembling limbs; all the assurance was gone from flis face; his lips were dry, and he seemed unable to speak.

There was a dead silience in the heat. "The corn crop of the United States in 872." said the bimetallist. "was 1 092 719. Hear! Hear! Gardner. The Timbs in an interesting series of letters has let in a flood of white light on the famous "crime of 1873" whereby it shows conclusively that the dropping of the standard dollar from the list was not a trick but was recommended by the Secretary of the Treasury and the "demonetization" act passed the House in the usual way.

to speak.

There was a dead silence in the half.

Coin's attempt to establish his theory by the corn crop of one State, which produced only one-tenth of the whole crop, appeared so weak, after it was exposed, that the audience viewed him almost with pity. His argument had been reversed against himself.

In Mr. Roberta's book one will find 168 pages of facts and reasoning as clear and conclusive as this, and if the book does not have as large a sale as Harvey's, it will be for lack of a sensible and appreciative public.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

The Government, it Pays the Freight.

IDS ANGRILES, May 18, 1986.—To the Editor of The Times:) No cause can be ultimately successful which depends on deception and misrepresentation for its success. The leading advocate of wo-called "bimetallism" (which term, with them, really means free silver alone) know that their policy, if adopted, would drive from circulation every gold coin in this country. The deaders of the crase know that the very legend on their banner is a falsehood.

This smazing and fatuous "campaign of deception" neems to be recently pursued with great zeal by a local evening paper, and, although its circulation or influence may not be extensive, I believe that these deceptions should be exposed.

The Lawless A. R. U.

The Lawless A. B. U.

SAN DIEGO, May 20.—(To the Editor of The Times.) The report that the A.R.U. is to be reorganized on this Coast ought to fill the mind of every particite citizen with diagust. This organization professes to be the friend of tabor, and, after proving timelf to be the bitterest enemy labor could possibly have, during the strikes of 1894, it now unblushingly lifts up its battered head once more and seeks support from the very men it so distinctly betrayed and outraged by leading them into indiscreet and lawless action, by thus causing them, in many instances, to violate the principles of good citizenship by embagonizing the authorities of the State and the methon. Any lasbor organization which wantonly incites its members to public violence is the deadly enemy of these members. The leader of the A. R. U. urged the members to save their money and buy guns. He and the demagogue associated with him repeatedly insulted the flag. They caused the spilling of moncent blood. In California, especially, was the effect of A.R.U. outrages felt. All citizens suffered because of the lawlessness of this organization. The cessation of railway traffic caused losses of millions of dollars. The lesson of 1894 is fresh enough in the minds of many. There are many, however, who forget. They do not resilize that this nation was in a perilous position hast summer because ruffans, in order to secure personnal aggrandizement, insuited the flag and every law-abiding citizen in this country. These ruffans are ready and eager to repeat their exploits of 1894. Thus do they get their living from hot-headed elements

Thompson, who had been drinking pretty reely, was talking with Fred Dobner, barseeper of the Adobe saloon, when Davis ame up. There was quite a crowd present, and during the conversation the salor mfastened Dobner's watch from its chain and slipped it inside the bosom of his thirt, A. bystander who witnessed the erformance informed Dobner, who desanded the time-piece, but Thompson was mable to produce it instantly, as it had lipped down the inside of his clothes into is sock. Dobner called a policeman and ad the sailor arrested. At the police station the latter admitted taking the watch, and fished it out of his sock, but explained hat he had only taken it in fun and inended returning it. Dobner, however, ould not see it that way, and insisted on aving Thompson locked up.

Agent Davis accepted the sailor's explantion of the affair, and says Dobner admitted to him at the start that it was all joke. Dobner, however, denies this, and e and Davis almost came to blows over he affair. Davis will appear as a witness or Thompson. Dobner has a number of winesses who will swear that they saw he easilor take the watch unbeknown to he owner.

OIL PUMPING WORKS.

BEING BUILT ON SECOND STREET AND BEAUDRY AVENUE.

Belief That the Petroleum Can be Profitably Refined—An Experi-ment to be Made—Tanks and Pipe Line.

The oil-pumping works now being con-structed at the corner of Second street and Beaudry avenue, will be completed and ready for operation in about ten days. These works are being constructed by the Pacific Oil Refining and Supply Com-pany, the same which is laying the pipe line from the wells to the big tank row in course of construction near the Santa Fathe Pacific Oil Refining and Supply Company, the same which is laying the pipe line from the wells to the big tank row in course of construction near the Santa Fe roundhouse. The plan adopted is to have a six-inch gravity pipe from the wells to the pumping-works, now being built, and four-inch pipe from there to the main tank. This latter portion of the pipe will be run via Seventh street, and although there is a fall all the way from Second street to the tank, it is not sufficient to rely on, the oil being too beavy in consistency to insure a free flow. It is to obviate this that these pumping-works are being erected. Alongside of the latter will be three tanks, each having a capacity of 600 barrels, and it is from these that the oil will be forced to the main tank. The furnace has been completed and the engine and boiler will be in place in a few days. The work is under the direction of E. A. Edwards of this city, formerly of Lima, O., in which State he laid the first oil-pipe line ever put down, and which was afterward purchased from him by the Standard Oil Company.

In connection with these pumping works it is the intention of Mr. Edwards and those associated with him to put up a small refinery plant simply as an experiment to determine whether the oil from Los Angeles wells can be successfully refined or not. He says the oil now produced here is very similar to that which was first produced in Ohio. An idea prevailed for along time in that State that the oil there could not be refined. Mr. Edwards, however, succeeded in overcoming all obstacles by a system of his own, which permits him to make a distillate oil can be used. He proposes experimenting at first with about one hundred barrels aday, and then, having determined to his own satisfaction and to that of others that the oil can be successfully and profitably refined, remove the plant to the main tank in the neighborhood of the railroads, where the work can be carried on on a sufficiently large scale.

In addition to the increased value the oil will ha can be carried on on a sufficiently large scale.

In addition to the increased value the oil will have after it is refined, there is the additional possibility that what is known as the by-product may also prove of value. It has happened that in some localities in the East, the by-product, which may be described in a general way as the residue of the oil after having undergone the refining process, has proved for commercial purposes of more value than the oil. Mr. Edwards is of the opinion that the by-product of the Los Angeles oil may develop some valuable qualities, but in any case he feels satisfied that the oil can, by his process, be profitably refined. He is, as he says, partly led to this conclusion from the examination he has already made of the oil and also beprofitably refined. He is, as he says, gartly led to this conclusion from the examination he has already made of the oil and also because of its many similar chracteristics to the crude petroleum of Ohio. Notwithstanding the many difficulties encountered in profitably refining the latter, it is now just as good and as valuable as the best Pennsylvania oil. The proportion of refined oil to crude is about 30 per cent.

Thin Children.

The reason why they are thin is because their food does not nourish them. Probably they do not assimilate enough fat. Cod-liver Oil is the most easily assimilated of all fats, but in its natural state it upsets the stomach and deranges the digestion.

. In Scott's Emulsion of 'Codliver Oil with Hypophosphites this difficulty is overcome. It is half-digested already and is very palatable. Children grow fat on it when all other food fails to nourish them.

After the usual preliminaries had been disposed of the following veto message from Mayor Rader was read:

To the Honorable Council of the City of Lies Angeles—Gentleimen: Ordinance regulating the closing during certain hours of all bar-rocems, saloons and other drinking phaces, within the corporate limits of the city of Los Angeles, prescribing a pensity for the violation thereof, and prescribing certain ducies of the Police Commission in relation thereto, is hereby returned, without approved for reasons hereinafter set forth, to-wit:

Section 1 of this proposed ordinance provides that "all door entrances or other avenues of egress and ingress of and to any bar-room, saloon, or drinking place within the corporate limits of the city of Lies Angeles, shall be closed in such a minmer as to prevent ingress and egress to and from any such bar-room, saloon or drinking place between the hours of 12 o'clock midnight, on Saturday night, and 12 o'clock midnight of the Sunday following, and between the hours of 12 o'clock midnight and 5 o'clock and o'clock midnight and 5 o'clock and o'clock under the hours of 12 o'clock midnight and 5 o'clock and o'clock under the hours of 12 o'clock midnight and 5 o'clock and o'clock under the hours of 12 o'clock midnight and 5 o'clock under the hours of 12 o'clock.

This section makes it unlawful, under bar-room, sedoon or drinking place, within the corporate limits of the city, to enter his own place of business under any pre-text whatever, and in effect, for the time meantiqued, turns the owner out of his own place, and compels him to seek other quarters from 12 o'clock midnight until 5 o'clock a.m. every week day, and from Saturday night at 12 o'clock until the same hour on Sunday night. It is an old and well-established rule of common law, which is familiar to every layman, that a man's house is his castle, and, being his property, nether law nor ordinance can deprive him of its legitimate use so long as in such use his does not sufringe upon or inherfere with the rights of others. This reasonable use is an attribute of property, of which a perskin under the Constitution of this States, as well as that of the United States, cannot be deprived without due process of law. Being his property, either by freshold or leasthold, he has the innerent right to enfer therein, or depart thereform, at witl, and any attempt to deprive, and property rights, which, in my opinion, is not within the power of muricipal legislation.

Art. 5 of the Constitution of the United Art. 5 of the Constitution of the United States provides, among other things, that "no person shall be compelled to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law, nor shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation," and sec. 13 of the declaration of rights of our own Constitution enacts this same provision in the same language. To say, therefore, that a person shall be compelled by law to abandon his property during any hours of the don his property during any hours of the day, or days of the week, is a usurpation of power, unwarranted by, and against the express principles of our fundamental laws.

inch any property during any hour of the content of previous and the previous of the content of and provided for in sec. 2 of the ordinance, the owner should also suffer the further penalty of actually having his business and property conflicated by the commission. The Police Commission is an important factor in the administration of the city government, and is invested with large discretionary powers. This discretion should not be an arbitrary, but a legal discretion, and should be exercised within the bounds of isw, justice and reason. To deprive the commission in any way of such an exercise of their rights, and make them merely the instrument to carry out the will of some other branch of the city government, is, in my judgment, unjust, unreasonable and unrepublican.

The proposed ordinance, then, measured and texted by the criticisms berein named, is found to be unreasonable in the following particulars:

First—It is unreasonable because it prevents a person from occupying his own premises, and going and coming at will, at all hours of the day or night.

Second—Because it punishes, under severe penalties, the opening or visiting of places during the period mentioned, where drinks other than intoxicating drinks are furnished, which is neither criminal nor immoral.

A communication from the Board of Police Commissioners, asking that suitable quarters be provided for the women confined in the City Jall, was read.

At this juncture President Teed called the attention of the Council to the presence of a number of ladies in the chamber, who were there presumably in the interests of the question embraced in the communication just read.

The ladies were then invited to address the Council through their spokeswoman, and the invitation was promptly accepted.

The delegation of ladies was composed of Mrs. G. T. Stickney, Mrs. M. E. Peets, Mrs. M. S. Dimmick, Mrs. M. Wolfskill, Mrs. H. G. M. Pattee, Mrs. M. G. Saxton, Mrs. M. M. Bowen and Miss M. Worth.

In a speech that glowed with womanly feeling and Christian charity, Mrs. G. T. Stickney explained the purpose of the committee of ladies in thus waking on the Council, saying that the deplorable lack of accommodations for women in the City Jail was so notorious as to scarce call for any explanation. It was exteed by Mrs. Stickney that one cell, Sx14, was occupied by four cots, and that on one memorable occasion this cell had served as a sleeping-room for thirteen women. President Teed expressed himself as being also dissatisfied with the existing state of affairs, but challenged the reverend gentleman to suggest a remedy for the social evil.

Mr. Knighten replied evasively that the Council ought to keep after the Board of Police Commissioners until it was remedied. President Teed retorted that he personally was decidedly averse to persecuting the poor creatures who inhabited these dens. It had been tried in New York, St. Louis, Pittsburgh, and every other large etty, since the year 1, but without success. After some further discussion Mr. Knighten withdrew, and the Council then adjoursed.

AFTERNOON SESSION. AFTERNOON SESSION.

Upon reconvening at that hour the matter of the appeal of J. M. Davies from the action of the Street Superintendent in assessing him $41.90 for the benefits accruing from the grading of North Broadway, was taken up. Mr. Davies insisted that instead of benefiting his lot on the northeast corner of Sand and Broadway, the work for which he was assessed seriously damaged it, and he, therefore, asked that he be exempted from payment of said assessment.

A Complaint Made Against a Contractor's Foreman.

Humane Officer Hutchins yesterday stopped a dirt team belonging to Ramfeh & Marsh, the well-known grading contractors, and took out a mule which be alleged was being cruelly treated. The animal was bedly gailed on the shoulders and appeared to be in great agony.

The officer made a complaint against the owners for cruelty to animals, but on advice of Deputy District Attorney James, the complaint against Ramish & Marsh, was distributed to the observations.

the complaint against Ramish & March was dismissed and the charge made against their foreman, loe Morris. Morris will have a hearing before Justice Owens Wednesday at 3 pm. It is understood that the owners of the mule will make a strong fight in an endeavor to have their foreman acquitted.

Farties who saw the mule immediately after he was taken from the team say he had no less than three ulcerated sores where the collar galled him. Several hours later he was exhibited on the street, and instead of sores there were only black blotches. The humane officer says this is because the wounds were painted with lampblack.

because the wounds were painted with sampblack.

Messys. Ramish & Marsh deny that any of their seventy mules have been cruelly treated. They say that the animal in question was a young mule that "fretted" much in being "broke" to harness, and had worn one sore on his neck, but they had been advised by the veterinarian to keep the mule at work until the sore had hardened to a callous. The mule will be placed on exhibition before the police station this morning between 10 and 12 for everybody's inspection. The contractors are disposed to fight the case.

The Caterpillars That Are Causing

Much Trouble.

Prof. A. J. Cook of Pomona College is authority for the statement that the distructive caterpillars that have been so seriously devastating Southern California for the past month prove to be a very common apecies all over the country. "Indeed," he ays, "it is cosmopolitan, not only invading the fields, crobards and gardens of North and South America, but also preys upon regetiation in Europe and Asia. It is known to science as Peridroma (Agrotis) Sancia Hbn., and is often referred to as the variegated cutworm. It works fearful havoc in the East, climbing fruit trees in May and esting the buds. In California they seem to differ in habits from those East, as they are to be found here above ground all through the day, and feed on nearly all kinds of vegetation. I have found oranges, apricots, prunes, etc., eaten badly by these pests. I found a dozen prunes on a single twig all of which were bored by these insects. They are now entering the earth to pupate, and in a few days their mischief will be ended till some distant day, we hope, in the future.

In the Orro Bianco, Arizona, district, the Ora and Julia manes, says the Tucson Citizen, are being thoroughly developed, and the wall for a mill was being fast. Another 10-stamp mill was to be erecibed to keep up with the ore turned out. A mill test taken from the Old Glory mine in that district work on a battery assay to $49.75 per ton. The golds proved coarse and very free. Over 89 per cent. of the gold was saved, showing a loss in milling of about only 11 per cent.

The Afbuquerque Citizen of the 15th mays: "Messrs. Heim and lagrings of klamsas City, today closed a deal with the Walter C. Hadley Company of this city, for the Mammon gold mines in Pinal county, Ariz., purchase price $55,000. This includes the group of mines, mills, marchinery, etc. The new owners will at once proceed to develop the property. The mines are thirty miles south of Casa Grande, and are a valuable property. Mr. Isgrigg is now in Los Angeles, having come to the city to get mill men and supplies for starting work in the mine. It is reported that Gen. Humphrey and H. E. Wood propose establishing a fiftyton smelter near Ensenda, Lower Callfornia. They will reopen the old San Fernande, copper mine below San Quintin. A new mill will soon be in operation at the Blue Light silver mine in Silverade canyon. The mill will be operated by water instead of steam power which the company has had for some time past. By taking the water from the creek about three miles above the mill that 'is now being constructed and bringing it around the side of the mountains a fall of a hundred or more feet can be obtained, which will furnish all the power desired. The ore from the mine is said to be of good quality, the only draw-back to the working of it being the absence of a contrivance by which the silver could be extracted from th

The Caterpillars That Are Causing A Musical Week-Concerts by Rival The Bond Meeting-Convention-Tis-

SANTA BARHARIA, May 20.— (Special Jorrespondence.) The past week might be correctly duthed "musical week."

On the 16th the Unity Choir gave a concert at Unity Church, the programme be-ing replete with fine selections, which were rendered in a capable manner. It is to be regretted that the audience was not com-mensurate in numbers with the efforts of the choir.

The following night the Santa Barbara

The following night the Santa Barbara City Band, under the leadership of Hans Schuy, gave a concert, the first of a series. Prof. Schuy presented some compositions of some of the most noted composers, and all the numbers were well executed.

A feature of Sunday afternoons in Santa Barbara is the band concerts given at the Plasa del Mar. Both of the city bands play every Sabbath afternoon, each occupying different stands. As there is great rivalry between them, they play in their best possible form. Last Sunday, notwithstanding the skies were overcast and a gool wind was blowing, there were not less than five hundred promensdens and seventy-five vehicles on the boulevard, enticed thither by the concert. The combined selections of the bands numbered twenty-one, and as one band would begin as soon as the other finished, there was no opportunity for encores.

SUPERVISOR'S MEETING.

The Supervisors of Santa Barbara county met in special session today (Monday.) The most important business was the granting to the Citizens' Street Railway of Santa Barbara permission to extend its lines into the county. The railway company is granted the privilege of continuing its line from Garden street to the Massion, and from Bath street to the Massion, and from Bath street to the Cottage Hospital.

A franchise has been granted to Messrs. Reed and Ashton for an electric railway from the city limits into the country. Messrs. Reed and Ashton intend as soon as they have setured their city franchise to extend their line as far as Carpinteria, hence the necessity of having a franchise from Santa Barbara county Supervisors. The following bids were received for the purchase of the San Magoos school district bonds: Isaac Springer, $1223 and accrued interest; Annie E. Broughton, $1206; William Perry, $1220; Harlow C. Thompson, $1201 and accrued interest; Hellman & Sartori, $1225.60 and accrued interest. The bid of Messrs. Hellman & Sartori being the highest, the same was accepted.

Permission has been granted to persons in Guadalupe to lay water pipes in that town.

THE LORD APPOINTMENT.

The following appeared in the Santa Barbara Independent Monday evening:

"It is a great mistake to suppose that the parents of the candidate for admission to Annapolis Naval Academy must be citizens of the United States. The candidate becomes an American citizen as soon as he receives the appointment to the academy, and this is all that is, required by the Navy Department. Over one-third of the cadets at the Naval Academy are native-born Englishmen and Germans, and make quite as good officers as native-born Americans.

It is expected that the meeting at the county courtroom Tuesday after moon at 2 o'clock will be largely attended All who desire to have the bonds for stree and at I o'clock will be fargely attended. All who desire to have the bonds for street improvements and electric lighting carry, and to place Riverside along side of the more progressive towns of Southern California, should come out to this meeting, that they may hear the questions thoroughly discussed. It is not only the duty of business men, msrchants, but there should be an attendance of voters of all classes. The Chisons' Committee and the City Trustees have done their part in having the question submitted to a vote, and it is now every voters' atty to see that the labors of these men do not come to naught. The county countroom should not be large enough to hold the crowd that will attend. At this meeting will be a good place to gain just such information as is needed. There is no question but that a great majority of the people are in favor of the bonds, but two-thirds of them must say so at the ballot-box, or at least two-thirds who vote.

KIDNAPED SAILORS.

Chris Olsen Suspected as a Spy for the Union.

According to the statement of Shipping Agent Davis, Chris Olsen, the kidnaped sailor who was not returned to the schooner Webfoot with his three companschooner Webfoot with his three companions, was a party to the conspiracy. Olsen turned up at the Terminal depot in this city the day after the schooner sailed, and started for San Pedro, ostensibly to draw his back pay, which had been left with Agent Davis. Instead of going to Davis's office, though, he went direct to the headquarters of the Saliors' Union and has been consorting with none but union seamen since. He has never called for his pay. This makes it pretty clear that he was in league with the kidnapers, and probably planned the raid, which was so successfully carried out. Agent Davis says the identity of the kidnapers is pretty definitely established, but there is no positive proof on which to convict them.

who are dyspeptic, find that exercise after a meal is sure to cause lessened power to digest food—because there is so little blood, and what there is, is carried off from the gastric organs to the muscles.

What is needed is plenty of blood, and that of the right kind. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes pure, rich blood, and to gain in blood is nearly always to gain in unbolesome flesh up to the healthy standard.

Every one should have a certain surplus of flesh to meet the emergencies of sickness; to resist the attack of consumption, grip, malaria and fevers. Thin blooded people are always getting sick, and none of the organs of the body can get along without the food they require for work, which is, pure blood. To gain and to keep strength and flesh is the secret of health, usefulness and happiness. With new blood and refreshed nerves a confident feeling of returning health comes also.

Nervous manifestations, such as sleeplessness, nervous debility and nervous prostration are in nine cases out of ten "the cry of the starved nerves for food." If you feed the nerves on pure rich blood the nervous symptoms will cease. It is bad practice to put the nerves to sleep with so-called celery mixtures, coca compounds or malt extracts; what is needed is a blood maker. The "Discovery" is composed of vegetable ingredients which have an especial effect upon the stomach, liver, and blood making glands. For the cure of dyspepsia, indigestion, liver complaint, weakened vitality, and for puny, pale people, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cannot be equaled. Thousands have testified to its merits.

The writer knows from experience what climate can do, coming from the raw, cold whole of Lake Michrigan, not able to speak above a whisper for a year, from bronchits, now well and hearty.

Although offinate has a powerful influence, Nature provides other agencies that will insure a more speedy return of health. Be out in the sunshine as much as possible. Walk every day, each day a little farther than the proceding day. Have an object in view. Plan some pleasure or cruard or work for the morrow, ever so lette, but faithfully attend to it, it will lead to something eise, and in time create an interest that will cause one to forget one's self in a measure. Ride on horseback slowly, or in an open carriage, observe how the plants grow and the labbts of animals. It was the practice of the writer to walk early in the morning.

in view. The appointments were made by the old board; that is, the member elected three years ago had a say in the appointments and the member elected this year, Mr. Corbett, had no vote in the matter. This is contrary to the holding of the Attorney-General as to his construction of the school law passed by the late Legislature. A member of the late Eighteenth, T. L. Baker of Pinal county, says his understanding of the intention of the law was that the new members of boards had a vote in appointments. However, the Tucson board were given a different construction—that the holdover member could vote. The appointments, too, while of most efficient instructors, are not gatisfactory to all. Miss Borton, a former department teacher, was made principal to the exclusion of C. H. Tully, late principal. The appointment is not satisfactory from the standpoint that a man teacher is needed, for one matter, to hold down the obstreperous boys of Tucson. They claim Miss Borton is too fragile to undertake bringing them to terms, though she is a most excellent instructor. From the standpoint of Miss Borton being a PHOENIX, May 18.—(Special Correspondence.) The "Indian outbreak" is proving to be a mess of exaggerations. Nobody has been killed, unles a squaw on the middle of the reservation counts. Soldiers are now in the field getting to the scene of the stille band of wanderers as fast are now in the neid getting to the scene of the little band of wanderers as fast as their remoteness from the field will permit. They will soon round up the fellows; who will be taken back to the reservation and forgiven, or possibly given thirty er sixty days in the guardhouse. That will be the sum total of this wonderful Indian outbreak. The few facts that They claim Miss Borton is too fragile to undertake bringing them to terms, though she is a most excellent instructor. From the standpoint of Miss Borton being a Roman Catholic, rumors are flying of trouble threatened by the A. P. A. Another row is possible, growing out of an editorial in the Citizen, which published a statement made by a member of the present Board of Trustees to the effect that the Tucson public schools were notoriously corrupt, and that personal considerations rather than educational fitness for teaching were the only requisites that had been considered. The statement in question brought out the late principal in a communication to the Citizen, in which he declared that "the statement made by a member of the present Board of Trustees of Tucson, to the effect that the "Tucson public schools are notoriously corrupt,' is notoriously false. The undersigned hereby challenges the person making the above queted assertion to prove that he is telling the truth officially, if not, the public will be asked to enter judgment against him by default. Here is a chance to either give or take." have been made as much of as possible were as follows: There is a band of about were as follows: There is a band of about fifteen Indians off the reservation who would not be, were there soldiery enough at and adjacent to the reservation to keep them there. They are armed and doing small maraudings. They have killed nobody, though a sensational story has gone forth and may be true that they fired on body, though a sensational story has gone forth and may be true that they fired on some prospectors. They were first seen on the 18th at the Coronado ranch, near Morerei, rounding up some horses. The commander at Fort Grant, sixty or seventy miles away, was notified. There is no reason to believe "the Kid" is with them. He prefers his own company or that of an occasional new squaw. Tuesday, the 14th, old Mas-se, a former renegade, killed a squaw on the reservation, eleven miles old Mas-se, a former renegade, killed a squaw on the reservation, eleven miles from Hawk Canyon, and carried another squaw to another part of the reservation. Indian police are on his trail. This was exaggerated to a story of a big "tizwin" drunk and orgy in which five squaws were reported killed and sixteen bucks had left the reservation. So far as can be learned nothing of the kind occurred. Meanwhile the party off the reservation had been seen near the site of Fort Bowie, sbandoned last year. There an Indian was seen by a prospector, W. T. Cooper, among the rocks. The Indian was armed. When the Indian saw the prospect of he ran in sive or take."

The pumping plant of J. Paschely's dairy, near the city, was destroyed by fire the night of the 16th. Loss, $1000. A large well there caved in, due to the burning away of support timbers near the surface. The loss is greater owing to delay in irrigation.

The Tucson Baseball Club anticipates crossing bats at Prescott on the Fourth of July with a combination Prescott-Whipple team. They hold the Territorial championship here, and propose carrying it home again, together with the $500 price to be awarded the champions.

Stephen H. Sexton, a well-known wheelwright here, died on paralysis at the hospital Thursday.

A horse with a career was in litigation a day or two ago, as to ownership. The horse-had been captured years ago during an indian raid. The owner saw it no more till this week, wheef, after a wild and woolly life on the plains, and numerous subsequent ownerships, it was found dragging a lowly job wagon in this city. The owner get his animal back again, a good deal worse for his career.

The late school entertainment realized $130, which was applied on the school plano.

City Marshal Paul is taking a vacation. He was this week fined $30 for breaking in a gate while in the discharge of his duty.

Adobe houses are more costly than better material in the long run. The latest instance is the case of P. Charouleau, landlord of a Chinese restaurant. He has been sued for $5000 each by two celestials for damages sustained by the falling in of an adobe roof on them.

Tomorrow (Sunday) night refutation lectures will be made in the operahouse by Revs. Messrs. Francis and Billman, in reply to a series of free-thinking addresses made here this week by a Mrs. Freeman. The local bicyclists will have a race meeting here Decoration day. Some new records are expected, and the wheelmen have applied to G. L. Hart, local representative of the L.A.W., for sanction, so that the time may be made official.

The acreage at the Indian-school farm in crops this year is 170 acres, all in grain. The boys work half a day by a prospector. W. T. Cooper, among the rocks. The Indian was armed. When the Indian saw the prospector he ran in an opposite direction. At a camp near the new Pierce district, sho in proximity of the lately-abandoned Fort Bowie, they are reported to have fired on some prospectors. Nobody was struck, though one man was hurt by leaping from a ledge in fleeing from them. The dissatisfaction on the reservation is due to lack of rations and their disregard of the military in view of the withdrawal of necessary military protection. On the reserve the Indians have extravagant notions of the wealth and guilibility of the railroad company proposing to build across their reservation. They want $500 for every Indian on the reservation, or an aggregate of $2,250,000. These ideas come from the "educated" or school trained Indians—an instance that muchmay be hoped for the Indians becoming like their white brethren. Dan Ming, an exsecut among them, now a merchant at Thomas, thinks they are only talking opposition to the railroad as an excuse; he believes they care but little about the railroad and that if Cleveland had not raised the question of their consent by his veto message sent to Congress on the right-of-way bill, the road could have passed through the reservation without a word of opposition from the red man. Indians have been making extravagant offers of late for guns and ammunition. One offer was $1 for six cartridges. Steps should at once be taken to regarrison at least Forts Bowle and Thomas, and, above all, San Carlos; also to give them more rations. Once they had as much too much raiting at they might avail themselves at once of the sacks for clothing. The cut of rations was too great, and now they have not enough for their needs. Sufficient food and surveillance is the solution of the Apache problem in Arizons. Indian saw the prospector he ran in opposite direction. At a camp near

The feature of the entertainment was the song proper with Messra. Benham, Budge, Perley, Murphy and Lambert in the funny costumes of the funny little brownies. Each sang his rolo and all joined in the chorus. The audience was wild with applause, and on being informed there was no more, called for the authors. YUMA.

YUMA. May 18.—(Special Correspondence.) A new era in mining along the Colorado has been opened up by the sale of eight of the best properties at Pleacho, to New York and Denver parties. In the same district parties are negotiating for the Jayne mines, upon which they propose to put a 100-stamp mill to be run by electricity. San Francisco parties have an option upon the White Gold group upon which they will put a tweny-five ton Huntington mill. Messrs. O'Connor, Jummings and Anderson are on a trip of examination of the mining interests from Yuma to Ehrenberg on the Colorado.

The new band have acquired commendable profeiency. They now propose giving weekly or semi-weekly concerts, and ask in return a small regular subscription to help sustain the band. Their outfit was quite expensive.

La Fortuna Mining Company of Thomas Camp, have received returns from a carload of ore sent to Sebby & Co. which avertaged $110 per ton. They are now making arrangements for a dry-put-verizing and milling plant, and expect to get to work in good earnest in about a month or six weeks. They now have about a hundred tons of high-grane ore on the dump.

Gold Gulch is fast coming to the front as one of the beat mineral-producing camps in Graham county. A ten or fifteen estemp mill, erected in Gold Gulch, would be a paying investment from the start.

SOLOMONVILLE, May 18.—(Special Cor-respondence.) The County Classification Bill of the last Legislature will be tested here in the cuit brought by Sheriff Wight against Assessor Michelene. The Board of Supervisors employed additionel coun-sel in the case, Judge Egan of Clifton and Judge Kibbey of Phoenix, in view of the expectation that Dist.-Atty. Jones would not suctain the county's fight very hard, as winning his case would mean the cutting of his own salary $1250 a year. Dist.ting of his own salary $1250 a year. Dist.-Atty. Jones protested vigorously against the employment of such counsel by the county, and he declared that he would take steps to prevent the payment of any money out of the county treasury for that purpose. This raised the dander of Supervisors Hill and Hays, who both declared that if the county couldn't legally pay those lawyers, they would individually become responsible for the bill. There was quite a wordy war between the chairman and the District Attorney. The new law, if sustained, will save Graham county $6500 a year.

The three committees having in charge the arrangements for the Fourth of July

The three committees having in charge the arrangements for the Fourth of July celebration met last evening at the Odd Fellows' Hail, and organized for business. They comprise the committees on finance, school and speakers.

The rinance Committee was called to order-by-Capt. F. J. Cressey, who stated that the Council had just appropriated $1000 for the use of the committee, and it was proposed to raise $4000 in addition to this.

The committee elected W. E. de Groot chairman, and J. M. Shawhan secretary. In outlining the work to be done, Chairman de Groot eaid that the city should be districted, and an active canvas entered upon at once.

In answer to inquiries as to plans already made requiring the expenditure of money, Capt. Cressey explained that the programme, so far adopted calls for a grand parade on the morning of the Fourth, which will require several bands. There will be two grand concerts at Hazard's Pavillon, one in the afternoon for visitors from the country, who will have tickets distributed to them on incoming trains, and one concert in the evening for the city residents. At both concerts the patriotic cantata of Drake's "Address to the American Flag" will be given by a trained chorus. There will be short addresses, solos by excellent singers, and a generally interesting programme.

Band music will be dispensed at the parks in the afternoon.

On motion of William Rommell, a committee of five to district the city and eelect men to canvass was appointed as follows: W. E. de Groot, J. M. Shawhan, M. Slegel, I. L. Lowman and W. C. Bluett.

The committee proceeded to work immediately, and the following gentlemen was

The Committee on Speakers, consisting of W. T. Williams, H. J. Osborne and W. A. Harris, met and agreed on a programme, which will include literary exercises at Central Park and Hazard's Pavilion on the morning of the 4th at 11 o'clock.

The following were selected as officers and speakers at the Pavilion: Capt. F. J. Cressey, chairman; Prof. J. J. Foshay, reader of the Declaration of Independence, Maj. J. A. Donnell and Hon. R. H. Del Valle, orators; Rev. W. A. Knighten, chaplain; I. H. Le Veen, poet.

The following were selected as officers and speakers at Central Park: Judge A. M. Stephens, chairman; J. W. Mitchell, reader of the Declaration of Independence; Rev. A. C. Bane and J. R. Rush, orators; Rev. J. S. Thomson, chaplain; L. E. Mosher, poet.

At the afternoon concert at Hazard's Pavilion Hon. James Melachlan was selected as orator and at the evening concert W. A. Harris.

Col. L. P. Crane called the School Committee to order and read the minutes of the last meetling. Prof. Foshay was presented.

Hall Last Evening.

A mass-meeting of the Christian Endeavor was held last evening in the Y.M.C.A. Hall, for the purpose of discussing the project of getting the international convention of 1897 to come to Los Angeles. Rev. George E. Dye, president of the city urion, presided, and the praise service was conducted by D. W. Morris. Addresses strongly urging an effort on the part of Los Angeles to get the convention to come here, were delivered by Rev. Charles W. McArihur of San Diego, and Rev. Burt Estes Howard.

Several musical numbers were rendered by a quartette, composed of Mrs. M. E. Auer, Miss Stoneman, J. T. Newkirk and D. W. Morris.

A most important election takes place of morrow (Tuesday) from 8 a.m. to sun-town, on the proposition to issue $40,000 chool bonds for the purpose of erecting we new school buildings. The polis will be open at the Wilson-school building, orner North Marengo avenue and Walnut treet. The necessity for increased school scillites does not need to be impressed at the intelligent vitigens of Pasadena, it a to be hoped that the apathy that was nanffected last fail; when every one exected his neighbor would vote for the suited in no election, will not be again conds and save him the trouble, which suited in no election, will not be again epasted. If the bonds are not voted for his time, the school authorities will be nore seriously handicapped next fail than way, and the fair name of Pasadena, as he isading school home of Southern Calionis, will be tarnished. It is a pariotic duty for every citizen to vote tonorrow for the bonds.

A NEW ELECTRIC ROAD, SCHOOL-BOND ELECTION.

A NEW ELECTRIC ROAD.

Passdena may soon have another electer road to Los Angeles. At the Countil meeting this afternoon Herman deaguns made application for a franchise or an electric road, to run from the city mits, on Marengo avenue, north to Coloado street, east on Colorado street to rund avenue, south on Grand avenue to ockhavan, thence to Orange Gove avenue, and south two blocks on that street, hence east on California street to Mango. The Council did not give much mecouragement to the plan, as thus outlined, holding that urriess a majority of troperty-owners on Grand avenue and Ormege Grove petitioned for the road along heir streets, that portion of the franchise, at any rate, would not be granted, and, as for Marengo avenue, it seemed to be the unanimous opinion of the Council last, on account of the narrowness of that treet, they would never consent to any ond running there. Mr. de Laguna spoke priefly to the Council concerning his operities to the Council concerning his operities. A NEW ELECTRIC ROAD. the account of the narrowness of that it, they would never consent to any running there. Mr. de Laguna spoke by to the Council concerning his pena, and declared that his company and to do nothing that Pasadena peowould object to, and that they would object to, and that they would object to, and that they would be down Buelld avenue, instead of warms and stillings are seen to a work and stillings are seen to a work and the state of come down Euclid avenue, instead of Marengo, and willingly agree to any reasonable changes. He aiready has an application before the Los Angeles City Council for a franchise, and proposes to connect the two cities by a first-class road that will be over one mile shorter than the present electric road. His application was read and filed. If the people on Ornange Grove and Grand avenues want a street-car line on their streets, now is the time to petition for one.

GERMANNA CLUB PICNIC.

The recently-organized Germania Club gave a plenic yesterday at Devil's Gate, which was attended by about one hundred and seventy-five people. It was the first plunic given by the club, and its success was targetly due to the management of A. Juers, the chairman of the Committee of Arrangements. Charles Roy, flutist, and Mr. Wolf furnished music, and the singing society gave several selections. The day's sport consisted of three egg races for the ladies and three boys' sack races. Mrs. Glibert of South Broadway won indice first prize, and Mr. Illimer's son first prize for boys. The Germania Club was organized only a few months ago, but it already has a large membership, and has a singing society of thirty-two active members, who meet every week for rehearsal. The society proper meets twice a month at the clubrooms in Williams Hall. The president is Mr. Norman; vice-president, Mr. Klein; secrebary, J. C. Roy, and warden, F. Plester. The club is making arrangements to attend the Kreisturnfest, in Los Angeles, June 22, in a body.

SANTA ANA, May 20.—(Special Correspondence.) The Board of Supervisors met today (Monday.) all members being present.

The petition and report of the viewers of the new public highway in the Garden

Grove road district was heard, and, upon, motion, was declared by the board a public road. The Auditor was directed to draw warrants on the Garden Grove road district fund in payment for the right-of-way of said road, as follows: To J. D. Price, $90; Mrs. Starke, $18; Mr. Worts. $36; J. Balzhauser, $36; R. Hovey, $13; M. Wallaos, $15; G. Clements, $20. The road begins at the end of the Fight-street road west of the Santa Ana River at the first turo, and rune directly west one mile. The Auditor was directed to transfer $300 from the general road fund to the Garden Grove road district fund.

The petition and report of the viewers for a new road in the Anaheim road district, beginning on the east side of the West Anaheim schoolhouse and extending north for about one mile, were received, and, after being amended so as to allow E. Browaing $35 instead of $40, and Mr. Desthman $25 instead of $40, an reported by the viewers, were accepted and the road declared a public highway.

The Auditor was instructed to transfer $100 from the general road fund to the Anaheim road district rund.

A communication from the Burgess Steel and Iron Works of Cleveland, O., inquiring as to whether or not the board was considering the matter of building a county jail, was received, read and ordered filed, and the clerk instructed to answer that the board as yet had not decided what would be done in this matter, but that it would like to obtain any further information on the subject of jail-building.

On a subsequent motion the chairman was appointed as a committee of one to infereive the City Trustees in regard to the city purchasing the present County Jail.

A communication was received from James Fullerton in reference to the printing of the delinquent tax-list, and on motion it was ordered that the list be printed as nearly as practicable the same as it was last year in the Orange County Herald.

ARROWHEAD TOLLROAD CON-TEST AT LAST DECIDED.

Incident on the Motor Road-Death of a California Pioneer-Bear Valley Stage Superior Court Doings.

SAN BERNARDINO, May 20.—(Special Correspondence.) The great contest over the Arrowhead tollroad rates was settled by the Board of Supervisors this afternoon by retaining about the same rates as are now in rogue, with some minor alterations, made under the direction of Col. Adelph Woods, manager of the company. These relate to making a round-trip rafe These relate to making a round-trip rate and a one-way rate, and also when a person goes only over half the road he pays a less rate than if he goes over the whole road. The petition to remove the lower gate up to the head instead of the mouth of Waterman Canyon, and throw four-miles of the company's road open free to the public was refused, and the toligates are to be left where they are at present, with the understanding that the upper gate, which was closed to save the expense of running it, is to be used for those who do not purchase a round-trip ticket. After the meeting of the board the lawyers had a chance to make a brief plea on each side, and the board took an executive session with closed doors for nearly two hours, and fixed the matter up so that when the doors were opened there was nothing to do but consult with Mr. Wood and formally pass the vote.

DEFENDED HER RIGHTS.

The much-talked-of motor went through to the springs Saturday night, but, although all obstruction had been removed, on mearing Rachel Springs it was met by a man wildly, waving his arms and shouting to stop, as the fence had been rebuik across the track, and was being guarded by Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon. A curious crowd had collected to see the outcome of the difficulty, but the delay was brief. H. W. Nesbit, the attorney for the road, was cn the engine, expecting that the law would need to be represented, and as the engine etopped before the obstruction he walked ahead to reconnoiter. Coming first to Mr. Sheldon he asked the meaning of this obstruction to travel, but like the original Adam he had nothing to say, but referred the representative of law and order to the woman, Mrs. Sheldon, and she stated in comphatic language that no trains could pass through on her land; that she had commenced suit in court to that effect, and she was there merely to defend her rights with her life, if necessary. The law was explained to her, and in spite of her protests, though she offered no violence, the fence was removed and trains run ail day Sunday.

The engine is being overhauled today and will be changed from coal to an oil-burner this week and commence running on a regular time-table next Saturday, and it is hoped there will be no more trouble or detention during the summer.

SUMMARY.

Peruvian Bitters.

An Invigorating Stimulant and Tonic.

IART AND TONIC.

If you feel tired and worn out—if your appetite is bad—if your nerves are shaky—then Feruvian Bitters will be welcomed by you as a perfect tonic. No better stimulating drink has ever been produced than Peruvian Bitters. Their effect upon the system is to restere and renew impaired vitality and endow with fresh impetus the disordered vital functions. Feruvian Bitters act as a natural appetizer and serve tonic, and produce a cheerful disposition and sound sleep. They are palatable and refreshing as a beverage, and far better than whickey or brandy.

From East to West his work has spread, the northern part of California having experienced the benefit of his services two years ago, and this being his first appearance in Southern California. In his manner he is pleasantly suggestive of San Jones, speaking with the peculiarly rich intonation of the Southern orator.

Dr. Carradine is being assisted in his work here by Dr. P. H. Bresse, and a large choir of trained voices.

The services, which so far have been very successful, will continue over next Sunday.

Last Saturday night five beef hides wer Last Saturday night five beef hides were stolen from the slaughter-house of L. F. Dolly & Son, near Norwalk. A description of the stolen property was furnished the police Sunday, and Monday morning Detective Steele caught Willie Rhodes, a colored youth, in the act of unloading the skins at the Los Angeles Soap Works, where he was trying to sell them. Rhodes at first claimed that he bought the hides, but on being confronted by Mr. Dolly, admitted his guilt. He was taken back to Norwalk by Constable Holgate for examination by the Justice of the Peace at that place.

HAPPY LITTLE ONES. A Visit to the King's Daughters'

Day Nursery. The King's Daughters' Day Nursery down on the corner of Vignes and Lazard streets is now running over with small children of every age and type. It is a jolly and contented sight that greets the visitor who succeeds in finding his or visitor who succeeds in finding his or her way to the top of the "winding stair" into the parlor of the motherly little spider and her group of merry young flies. The buzzing is sufficiently loud to make a dyspeptic old bachelor shiver in his shoes, but it is a happy buzz, and well-controlled by the quiet young matron, who seems to understand the exact need of each little nature.

Much business was going on yesterday

Much business was going on yesterday. The room swarmed with toddiers who were all actively engaged in improving the shining hour in various ways that seemed good to the infant mind.

One demure little maid, with soft brown hair and eyes like forget-me-nots, was swinging to and fro in a little red rocking-chair, crooning to a sick dolly, which she held in motherly fashion, and occasionally easting reproachful glances at an energetic embryo carpenter, who was cobbling with a broken doll's cradle with a picture block for a hammer, and making a deafening racket in so doing.

He suspended operations when the visitors entered, however, and devoted his attention to vigorously tucking into his waistband about four inches of shirt,

He suspended operations when the visitors entered, however, and devoted his attention to vigorously tucking into his waistband about four inches of shirt, which had escaped from bondage and was floating airily outside, a la Chinaman.

Another sturdy little fellow, with a waite pinafore covering the more mascular garments beneath, and armed with a little iron pistol, promises future military ability, for he was taking a cradle by storm in scientific style. His plans, however, were upset by an unexpected invasion from the rear.

A veritable cherub, with calm blue eyes and a mop of flaxen curls, advanced with precision and dispatch to the rescue of her fortress, but the method of locomotion was, to say the least, striking. She sat flat upon the floor, with both legs etraight out in front of her, and propelled herself along by one hand, skating over the floor almost as rapidly as any other child would run.

"She always does that," said Mrs. Turnbull, laughing, as she picked up the dignified mite. "She is too lazy to waik. "Lazy Madgie we call her. She talks both Chinese and English very plainly, and is very precocious, for a child of 19 months, but she will not even try to waik, lazy little thing."

Madgie gave a small, contented grunt, while she explained that the child's mother taught English to the Chinese, and that the baby was as familiar with one language as with the other.

The nursery is a brilliant success so far. Many of the mothers have been given work through the agency of the Day Nursery, and the colony of little people seems as contented as a nest of kittens in a fur rus. The small stock of furniture is gradually increasing. A dow table, and several pudgy little chairs have been added, and the house-keeping goes on smoothly. The mothers whose children are cared for seem fully to appreciate the advantage of the useful ittle institution and it already threatens to overflow its present quarters.

The New Cycling Circuit.

The second race meeting on the California Cycle Racing Circuit, which will be held at San Bernardino tomorrow, promises to be one of the most interesting of heid at San Bernardino tomorrow, promises to be one of the most interesting of the series, for the crack class-A men of Riverside and San Bernardino counties will be pitted against each other exclusively in the first event, and several hotty-contested races may be confidently expected. Foster, Burke, Castleman and Allen Jones, the new phenom, will probably compete in the class B events, and it is not improbable that Mort Johnson of San Francisco, and B. E. Clarke of San Bernardino track.

The pregramme is as follows: Mile, class A, championship, Riverside and San Bernardino track.

The pregramme is as follows: Mile, class A, championship, Riverside and San Bernardino counties; mile, novice, mile handicap, class A, two-mile handicap, class B, and mile cpen, class B.

The third meeting on the circuit will be held at Santa Ana on Saturday next.

The race meet, which was to have co-curred at Pasadena yesterday, was called off on account of the fact that the Painter track has been plowed up.

The Keeley Double Chloride of Gold Treatment is not an experiment; 300,000 men have been cured by it. If these men have only spent one dollar per month for drink, the saving in a single year to those who have been cured would amount to $3,600,000. The best people in the nation save and have been sayed by it. As it has saved them, it will save others. As an investment it is safe, sure, sound, secure. It is an investment

That Pays.
